COLUMN

MOVED by the exhortations of an evangelical group, a man in Western Ontario paid a debt owing for more than 40 years. Reflections on the action are likely to be varied and even contradictory. The repayment of the debt must be admitted to be a meritorious act. The refusal to pay for more than half a lifetime a debt which the man was presumably able to pay does not suggest a very admirable character. We think the business life of the community would be paralyzed, if not indeed destroyed, were most of the citizens built like this brand-from-the-burning. If a man is to be honest or be made honest only by the mere chance that he hears at the appropriate moment an eloquent word, our business would have to be carried on as is the more romantic part of racing, by tips and hunches.

Through a Glass Darkly.

What is to happen in the here- after, indeed if there is to be a here- after at all, must remain for all time to the average man a matter of speculation. It is by hope and faith and through a glass darkly that those who see make their reports, which are not necessarily binding on others. But what happens on earth or what ought to happen, in other words, human conduct, is governed by laws and practices and traditions that human beings have come to recognize as good. It is possible, of course, that the coin of our good- ness here will be refused in another world and denounced as spurious. But it will remain for us the only negotiable currency. It is by it we live together in good will and confidence. A man who has lived a life of scoundrelism may by a death- bed repentance be permitted to enter the Kingdom of Heaven like the dying thief, but this act of mercy will not prove that we who knew him on earth were mistaken in re- garding him as a scoundrel.

Little Praise Due Him.

Whatever may be the Divine plan, at which the wisest can only guess, and in which the humblest may only trust, the fact remains that on earth a man is properly judged by his sane acts, and by the totality of them. — A man who avoids payment of a just debt for half a century and then pays it is hardly to be regarded as one to whom credit should be extended. His rating in Bradstreet must necessarily be low, irrespective of his rating in Heaven, which may be high. So our code, being of the earth earthy, we are less inclined to praise this citizen for doing in 1834 what he ought to have done in 1884 than to blame him for not having done it as a matter of human decency and not in a moment of spiritual exalta- tion in 1885.

and Family Welfare which opens at the Royal Connaught Hotel, Hamil- ton, on Monday next. The session will be under the patronage of His Honor, the Lieutenant-Governor, who will also be one of the speakers.

A. W. Laver will preside at the committee on Relations between pub- lic and private agencies in the fam- ily field, which will convene at 10 a.m. In the afternoon there will be conferences on inter-provincial placement of children and a meet- ing of the family welfare division with G. B. Clarke, Montreal, as chair- man.

Hon. Herbert A. Bruce will arrive at 8.30 p.m. when Mayor Herbert Wilton, of Hamilton, will give the civic welcome. Reports by the secre- taries of several sections as well as addresses by the Lieutenant-Governor and Alan G. Brown will be features of this session at which the board of governors will be elected.

RESIGNS POSITION

as Director of the Margaret Eaton School after being connected with the school for twenty-four years, as head of the physical education department, and for the past eight years as Director of the school.—

MISS MARY HAMILTON HONORED BY ALUMNAE

Warm Tribute Paid Retiring Director of Margaret Eaton School

Many were the expressions of regret over the resignation of Miss Mary G.
Hamilton as Director of the Margaret Eaton School, at the annual luncheon of the Alumnae Association at Wymilwood on Saturday. Miss Hamilton, an outstanding figure in Canadian physical education, has been connected with the Margaret Eaton School for twenty-four years. As head of the school she has sent out to teaching positions in the schools and recreation clubs of Canada many graduates imbued with her own high standards for physical education.

"Generous, unselfish, just, open-minded, progressive, you and I are the richer for having known her," was the tribute of Miss Florence Somers, Assistant Director of the school. "She has made the Margaret Eaton School known throughout the length and breadth of Canada for its high standards."

"It is not just during our student days, but through all our teaching years, and longer, that her influence is felt," said Miss Ruth Gray, in proposing the toast to the school. Miss Hamilton, in responding to this toast, traced the history of the school briefly during the time of her association with it, and expressed her appreciation of the service rendered to the school by the graduates. She amused every one greatly by recalling, among other things, the accordion-pleated skirts the students once wore, three inches below the knees, with six yards of material in one skirt.

Miss Margaret Henderson, President of the alumnae, on behalf of the graduates throughout the country, presented Miss Hamilton with two leather travelling bags, a long gold chain over 100 years old, and a bou-quet of crimson roses.

PARENTS ARE GUESTS AT C.G.I.T. CLOSING

As the closing event of the year.
Canadian Girls in Training of Walmer Road Baptist Church, and their parents, and teachers and officers of the Sunday school, were entertained at a party.

A particularly enjoyable program of games was led by Miss Nellie M. Lewis of the Ontario Religious Education Council. Prizes for maps of the Baptist mission fields in India were presented by Mrs. Charles Dengate, who has led mission study for the department during the year. Eleven girls were presented by the pastor, Rev. H.
H. Bingham, with cheques for $5 each,
to assist them to attend C.G.I.T. camp for ten days during the summer. The girls raised part of this money during the year, and the balance was contributed by friends in the congregation.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of a huge birthday cake to Dr. F. Tracy, formerly Professor of Psychology at the University of Toronto, a deacon of the church and teacher and leader in the Sunday school, it being his birthday. Beautifully decorated and lighted with candles, it was carried in by the girls in procession, singing "For He's a Jolly Good Fellow." A bouquet of Talsman roses and baby's-breath was presented to Miss Lewis. Mrs. Leland P. Mc-Clelland, Superintendent of the department, assisted by Miss Helen Merrill, Miss Doreen McDowell, Miss Myrtle Bryan and Miss Jane Coventry, was in charge of the evening, and Miss Kathleen Bryan, Vice-President, presided.

Students Give Fine Program

Margaret Eaton School Demonstration Well Attended

With a lilt in every movement and music in the air—orchestra, tomtom, folk-singing—Margaret Eaton School demonstration of physical education activities delighted both the eye and the ear of the large audience which filled the Varsity Arena last evening for the annual event. The uniforms of the students—green and white—had a fresh charm and added a decorative note to the tableaux presented by the skilled participants in the various events.

An interesting experiment in dancing to music forms concluded the fine program, which was presented with promptness and precision. In this dance orchestration for which the orchestra played Rubenstein's "Romance" the arrangement of the groups of dancers corresponds to that of the instruments of a symphony orchestra. Throughout the composition the note pattern for each instrument was traced by the movements of the dancers who represent it, and an attempt was made to realize symphonic movement from the harmonious arrangement of all groups. Other features of the program were: Marching tactics, apparatus work, English country dancing, and a demonstration of choral speaking directed by E. Sterndale-Bennett.

Interesting demonstrations of practice teaching, with the assistance of children from Huron Street School, were enjoyed by the audience. The second half of the program included fundamental gymnastics, tumbling and pyramids, German gymnastics directed by Kathleen G. Pepler, skill games for use in recreation, tap dances, and other dances composed by the students performing them.

Students of the school participating included:

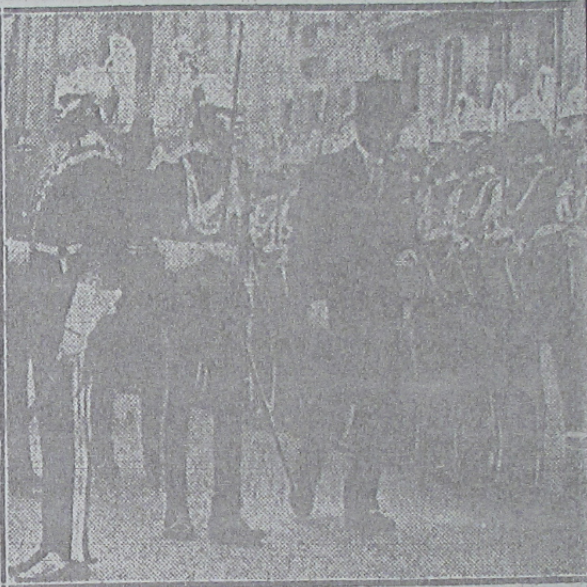

Seniors—Mary Adams; Marion E. Burt, Paris; Louise Dewar; Norah Gault, London; Gertrude Henderson, New York City; Barbara Heseltine, Yokohama, Japan; Peggy Fringle, Anne Ross; Flora Secord, St. Catharines; Ruby Thomas, Joyce Withrow.

Juniors—Norah Bannister, Moncton, N.B.; Helen Cummings, Winnipeg, Man.; Margaret Ferguson, Winnipeg, Man.; Elizabeth Gilchrist; Margaret Gurd, Montreal; Elizabeth Jarvis; Lucille Kirk, Vancouver; Mary Leask, Moose Jaw, Sask.; Molly Maw, Winnifred McEvoy; Della MacFarlane, Edmunston, N.B.; Katharine Mackenzie; Brettia Powles, Semans, Sask.; Georgie Read, Erie, B.C.; Margaret Robinson, Lillian Ross; Leona Sengram, Barrie; Elizabeth Snell, Ottawa; Mary Steedman, Lethbridge, Alta.; Phyllis White, Port Hope.

"THE CONSTANT NYMPH" AT THE UPTOWN THEATRE.

"The Constant Nymph," the new screen presentation of the famous novel by Margaret Kennedy, comes to the Uptown Theatre today for the beginning of a week's engagement. This talking film of the story that was first presented as a play in America and England has been heralded as one of the finest achievements of the motion picture screen. Aside from its importance as literature and screen drama, "The Constant Nymph" is credited with introducing a newcomer to the screen, who, with this one role, has been elevated to stardom. She is Victoria Hopper, and she plays the role of Tessa, the heroine of the story. Brian Aherne, last seen in "Song of Songs," as the masculine lead with Marlene Dietrich, plays the principal role in this film. The story of the film is established as one of the most poignant and living chronicles in literature. The relationship of the members of the Sanger family are indelibly recorded in the minds of millions of readers and theatregoers. But it has taken the talking picture to achieve what is said to be the most vital characterization in both literature and the theatre.

"TWENTY MILLION SWEETHEARTS" AT THE IMPERIAL.

One of the unique features of "Twenty Million Sweethearts," the radio romance which is now playing at the Imperial Theatre, is an introductory broadcast by the Three Radio Rogues, the famous imitators of the stars of the air. The three rogues, Jim Hollingwood, Eddie Bartell and Henry Taylor, have so thoroughly perfected the art of imitating the human voice that it is practically impossible for the listener who leads her. "The Constant Nymph" does new numbers in a way that proves her title. "The Blue Streak," besides being the former of "Cocktail Hour," its producers, having collected Macklin Megley in settling lavish scenes. She brings excellent supporting cast. ## Million Meals For Jobless

Proud Record of Toronto
Red Cross Since 1931

Mr. Lyman Henderson reported that more than 1,000,000 meals had been served by the Red Cross to unemployed men in Toronto since 1931, at the executive committee meeting of the Toronto Red Cross yesterday.

At the time the Red Cross dining room was closed on April 30, 1934, Mr. Henderson stated, many of the men expressed their gratitude for all the Red Cross had done for them.

Mrs. C. A. Gossage, convener of the Hospital Visitors' Committee, reported that 1,322 visits of friendship and cheer had been made to the sick veterans at Christie Street Hospital during the month of April, when extra comforts were distributed.

Mrs. J. H. McArthur, while reporting 732 patients, visitors and staff served at the Red Cross Lodge during this period, mentioned the visit of Miss Mary Pickford to the lodge, when Miss Pickford expressed delight that the Red Cross was able to provide such an attractive place where the sick soldiers at Christie Street Hospital could meet and entertain their relatives and friends.

In his report on health, service and international friendship program carried on by the Junior Red Cross in the Toronto schools, Dr. W. E. Home stated that there were now 510 branches in the schools with a membership of 26,000 children, showing an increase of fourteen branches over this time last year.

Mrs. R. B. Rice, in reporting on the Red Cross home during work in Toronto, said that since inception, 422 classes had been organized, with a total enrollment in completed classes of 8,504 Toronto women.

BETWEEN YOU AND ME

AT THE WOODLINE.

It looked like a blue Monday to us at the Woodline yesterday despite the sun and we amused ourselves picking out the blue costumes. . . . Her Excellency chose a powder blue crepe to wear under her black coat, and her hat was large black model. . . . Mrs. Neville Flower was in blue, too, and more on the blue horizon included Mrs. Gordon Willis, Mrs. Gwynn Oiler, Mrs. C. A. Moes, Margaret Temple, Joyce Livingstone and Mrs. N. L. Nathanson.

SHE FINDS A RESTFUL SPOT.

"The idle rich is a title moving into discard. . . . We quote the day of a lady of a sizeable income. . . . to bed at five o'clock in the morning after a dance and supper party. . . . breakfast at 9:30, directions to naps, out at a committee meeting at 10 o'clock, another at 11 o'clock, a luncheon meeting at noon, massage at three-thirty, tea at five and dinner at 7:30. . . . "Do you know where I get a moment to rest?" she asked us, "at home you know the telephone is always ringing. . . . I tried to leave orders I wouldn't be disturbed, but I'm just too curious, so I slip into the movies, I can relax there."

TRAFFIC CONGESTION.

"All the nice girls love a tailor," the old song tells us, and apparently they love a sailor suit, too. On Sunday night the heavy traffic on Danforth ave. was almost disrupted by the sight of two pretty girls in the naughtiest of blue "middle" tops, trousers and all, riding their bicycles along safely near the sidewalk.

Not so safe, by the way, though they looked as if they were having a grand time, was a group of nine young ladies on roller skates we spotted in the other end of the city, down near Sunnyside. They were holding hands and the line of nine was strung right across the road. That did disturb the traffic, too, as you may imagine, but nobody seemed to mind. Sunday drivers are pretty good-natured.

WHO'S GOT THE BUTTON?

There was great excitement in the Eaton Auditorium yesterday afternoon at the U.E.L. Exhibition. It seems a prominent man had the War of 1812 and three uniforms worn by soldiers in the War of 1812, and when he came in yesterday to look things over, he found several buttons were missing from one of the coats. Now those were valuable articles and the owner was much aroused. So were the ladies in charge, who felt that somehow they had been careless in not keeping better watch. It was even suggested that story tactics were necessary. The hero of the tale looked around a bit more and discovered his uniform, just as he had sent them. . . . The others were in a group loaned by the Niagara Historical Society, and they had been short a few buttons when they came.

May Weddings

PULLAN—PAPERNIC

The marriage was solemnized at the Primrose Club of Beulah Rita, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Papernick, Austin Terrace, to Mr. Gordon Pullan, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Pullan, Russell Hill road, Rabbi Gordon and Rabbi Sachs performed the ceremony and Mr. Sammy Bernshoven played the wedding.

Give Awards At St. John's

Eleven Nurses Receive Diplomas and Pins at Graduation Exercises

Eleven nurses received their diplomas and pins at the graduation exercises of the St. John's Hospital this afternoon. Promptly at four o'clock the nurses, in their pink uniforms with white starched collars and aprons and carrying pink roses and baby's breath, marched from the nurses' residence to the chapel, where the graduation service was held and the diploma and pins presented by Father F. B. Hartley. The nurses' diplomas were presented by the Junior class of the school.

The prizes were presented in the garden when the following received awards: Alice Brown, for the highest standing in theory. Miss Mosie Draper, for general proficiency, donated by the hospital. Miss Ivy Robert, the Silver Prize for operating room technique. Miss Hilda Bridge, prize for paediatrics given by Miss Ethelidge. Miss Nellie Green, the prize for bedside nursing given by the Alumnae. The other graduates are: Sister Georgina, Sister Goodwyn, Miss Olive MacMillan, Miss Hilda McIlroy, Miss Isabel Chalmers and Miss Dorothy Howe.

Following the presentation a garden party was held, when Sister Beatrice and the Reverend Mother received the guests and the junior nurses assisted in looking after the guests.

A dance is being held this evening in nurses' residence, given by the class of 1935. The 160 expected guests will be received by Miss Ethelidge and Miss Sue Morgan.

Graduation At M.E.S.

Miss Barbara Heseltine Receives Gold Medal For Highest Standing.

The graduation exercises and reception of the Margaret Eaton School took place this afternoon at the school with Rev. Dr. W. H. Sedgewick presiding and pronouncing the invocation. As the curtains were pulled aside, the graduates were revealed in their pretty white frocks and many flowers, while the students sang "Land of Our Birth." The report of the year's work was given by Miss Mary Hamilton and the address of the afternoon was given by Dean A. T. Delury.

Miss Nora Gauld read the valedictory address and the prizes were presented as follows: Barbara Heseltine, the gold medal for highest standing; Louise Deary, the silver medal presented for the first time this year by Miss Charlotte Kaulbach for general proficiency, leadership and service to the school. Those receiving honors in theory were: Barbara Heseltine, Nora Gauld, and Flora Secord.

Much regret was expressed at the leaving of Miss Hamilton who has been director of the school for 25 years and who introduced her successor, Miss Florence Somers, formerly assistant director.

The graduates are: Miss Mary Adams, Toronto; Miss Marion E. Burt, Harris; Miss Louise Dewar, Toronto; Miss Nora Gauld, London; Miss Gertrude Henderson, New York City; Miss Barbara Heseltine, Yokohama; Miss Margaret Pringle, Toronto; Miss Anne Ross, Toronto; Miss Flora Secord, St. Catharines; Miss Ruby Thomas, Toronto, and Miss Joyce Withrow, Toronto.

Regret was also expressed at the resignation of Miss Kaulbach who is leaving to be married.

Following the graduation an informal reception was held and tea served from a table decorated with spring flowers. Mrs. F. G. Marriott poured tea and the Juniors assisted in looking after the guests.

as the dummy goes down, it is best for you to go still further and say: "If it falls, can I still make my contract?"

To-day's hand is not a difficult play, but one in which all you have to do is to eliminate two suits from your hand and dummy's so that, when your finesse does fail, your opponent will have to help you with the hand.

THE BIDDING.

East's overall of three diamonds is rather dangerous. When South bids three hearts, he informs his partner that he cannot take care of the losing diamonds.

It looks to South, when his partner goes to four hearts, that North must have control of the diamond suit, and this is true, there is a chance for a slam.

Three Meals
a Day
BY JESSIE READ

There is a story told of a young author who decided to spend some time in a small fishing village on the coast. He had a splendid boarding house, clean and tidy and a landlady who was exceptionally kind. This only grievance was the fact that, fond as he was of fish, having it for three meals a day, seven times a week was too much of a good thing. So, one day, he walked into a neighboring town and bought some sausage—took them back and asked his landlady to give them to him for breakfast. With considerable anticipation he looked forward to them. Realize then his dismay when he arrived at the table to find several shrivelled looking pieces of skin. Seeing the look on his face, the landlady said, "Was a poor buy they were, sir, that's all there was left when I finished cleaning them."

Sausages are good eating whether they are served for breakfast, lunch or dinner. The small link sausage is more popular than the country style. In fact now you can purchase the very tiny sausage, which can be cooked and stuck on tooth picks and passed as an hors d'oeuvre with the cocktails at dinner.

Fried sausage is the general way of cooking them and frankly it is the last way I ever think of doing them. They create such a distinct either broil or bake the sausage. In either of these ways they are most digestible and are easy to prepare. Baking is really the simpler because all you do is arrange them in a baking dish, place them in a hot oven at 400 degrees F. for about 15 minutes, and they are ready to serve. This way there is no turning and no smoke and no odour.

Sometimes we take a whole potato and remove the centre lengthwise from the potato, using an apple corer. Into this hole we stuff a sausage and bake at 450 degrees F. until potato is done. The potato is raw of course and not peeled. This is really just a variation on baked potatoes. Another favorable breakfast suggestion is scrambled eggs with sausage, or still another, is sausage with griddle cake. Our Cuban Egg recipe is a variation on the scrambled eggs and sausage.

CUBAN EGGS

- 1 lb. sausages.
  - 2 teaspoons chopped onion.
  - 1 cup catsup.
  - 6 eggs, lightly beaten.
  - 1/4 teaspoon salt.
  - 1/2 teaspoon pepper.
- Cut sausage in pieces or use sausage meat. Fry with onion for 5 minutes, add catsup, eggs, and seasonings. Cook until thick and pile on hot buttered toast. Serves 6.

Graduates Honored At Margaret Eaton

In her final commencement address as director of the Margaret Eaton School, Miss Mary G. Hamilton yesterday introduced her successor in office, Miss Florence Somers, now assistant director, and also announced the resignation of Miss Charlotte Kaulbach, a popular member of the staff. Miss Hamilton paid her tribute to Miss Kaulbach's splendid work during her years on the school staff, and presided over the exercises held in the Margaret Eaton Hall.

Two fine addresses to members of the graduating class were given by Dean A. T. De Lury, M.A., LL.D., and Rev. Dr. W. H. Sedgewick, who presented the diplomas and prizes in the absence of Dr. J. R. P. Eclater, through illness. Dean De Lury spoke particularly on the influence of beauty and recalled with affection the beginning of the Margaret Eaton School. Dr. Sedgewick pointed out that education was not sufficient to guarantee a successful career, and he mentioned five important traits which were to be desired: The ability to watch and perfect the details of one's work, the ability to sacrifice the present for the future, the ability to go on without the quick success and the praise the ordinary person demands, the ability to get on with other people, and the capacity for sustained growth.

The valedictory was given by Miss Norah Gaul, B.A., and Miss Hamilton presented the gold medal for highest standing to Miss Barbara Heseltine. The Charlotte A. Kaulbach Silver Medal for general proficiency, leadership and service to the school, given yesterday for the first time, was awarded to Miss Louise Dewar. Miss Kaulbach made the presentation.

Honors in theory were merited by Norah Gaul, Barbara Heseltine and Flora Secord, and diplomas were presented to Mary Ellen Adams, Marion Elizabeth Burt, B.A., Louise Hamilton Dewar, Norah Macpherson, Gaul, B.A., Gertrude Elizabeth Mary Henderson, Edith Barbara Heseltine, Margaret Elizabeth Pringle, Anna Ross, B.A., Flora Arvilla Secord and Joyce Elizabeth Withrow. A certificate was presented to Ruby Elizabeth Thomas.

An informal reception followed the exercises, when the graduates, with their pretty long skirted white frocks and arm bouquets, received their friends. The tea table, presided over by Mrs. F. G. Marriott, head of the Margaret Eaton residence, was gay with a mixed bouquet and green candles. The junior students assisted in looking after the guests.

the affidavit to make it simpler and less onerous, and this was adopted and the bill given final passage on division.

More than once that bete noir of those anxious for early prorogation, namely, the Harris resolution calling for approval of the manner in which the Ottawa conference trade agreements had operated, bobbed up, and it brought another protest from the Liberal Leader, Right Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, when Premier Bennett suggested that a vote might be taken on this, as the other business was practically disposed of.

The Prime Minister added that his reason for proposing this move was that earlier in the session Mr. King had protested against being deprived of a vote on it.

"I do not want to repeat what the Right Hon. James Thomas said," remarked Mr. King, "but I think it would be humbug to have a vote on it at this time."

"It is on Hansard that the right honorable gentleman did not want to be precluded from the opportunity of voting on it," retorted the Prime Minister. "I want to give him a chance."

Mr. King—We will give you a vote if my right honorable friend can guarantee that there will be no discussion to prolong the session.

The matter was left in that position but the resolution was never called.

Nothing Definite.

Early in today's proceedings Mr. King again asked about the progress of negotiations for a trade pact between Canada and the United States. "If any finally had been reached," said the Prime Minister, "I would have advised the House, but no final conclusion has been reached with respect to any of the terms that would enable me to make a statement to the House."

There was more discussion, too, about the vote of $30,000 to the estate of the late General Sir Arthur Currie. Replying to a query by Hon. Ian MacKenzie (Liberal, Vancouver Centre), the Prime Minister said: "It is a vote given as if in his lifetime, and is therefore payable to his estate, but it was not paid to the estate until such time as the estate was wound up. The complete estate consists of about $11,000, so this grant is being made as though it were being made to Sir Arthur Currie in his lifetime, so far as that is possible."

Mr. MacKenzie—Is there a reasonable assurance that none of this money will be used for payments to any bank or anything of that sort?

"The estate has been wound up," replied the Prime Minister, "and after the payment of all claims there is a small surplus of about $11,000, so no part of this sum (the $30,000) will become assessable for any claims of any character against the estate."

"While I am not opposing this vote," said Mr. MacKenzie, "I think a life annuity would have been preferable in the public interest."

To Buy Annuity.

"I am informed," said the Prime Minister, "the money will be utilized for the purpose of purchasing an annuity for the widow under the direction of the executors. I believe that has already been arranged. The balance of the estate to which she is entitled will, with this, ensure the widow

Holding his hand on the plaintiff's head and using his pen as an indicator, Dr. I. M. ## FARMER GIVEN $4,323 IN COLLISION ACTION

Jury Holds Dr. G. G. Nasmith's Operation of Car Was Negligent

Finding that Dr. George G. Nasmith, Toronto consulting engineer, was guilty of negligence in a motor crash in October, 1933, a jury under Mr. Justice Henderson in assize court to-day awarded Clifford Love, Ontario county farmer, $4,323. The award included $3,500 damages and "out-of-pocket" bill amounting to $823.

The jury held that Dr. Nasmith's negligence consisted in not keeping a proper look-out, not applying his brakes "and therefore not bringing his car to a stop." The jurors also found that the farmer was not negligent.

During the action, it was pointed out that Dr. Nasmith had to use a special cushion "because of the smallness of his stature."

Love brought suit for $12,000 for injuries sustained in a collision between their cars near Port Perry. He claimed a piece of glass became embedded in his knee joint, causing a permanent "stiff-knee."
